

Scotland welcomes migrant workers...

➤ Emilia is from Poland and works as an analyst assistant with the Lothian and Borders Police. When she first arrived in Aberdeen six years ago she worked in childcare for low pay and poor working conditions. She studied English and learned her rights, working in a variety of jobs and volunteering before she joined the police in 2007.

Workers in Scotland have the right:

- To a minimum wage and employment rights
- To be healthy and safe in work
- To not be exploited

Know your rights in work!

www.cas.org.uk

www.hse.gov.uk/migrantworkers

Directgov

www.direct.gov.uk/nmw

Gangmasters
Licensing Authority

www.gla.gov.uk

www.scottishmigrantsnetwork.org.uk